There is significant risk that predictions and other forward-looking statements will not prove to be accurate. Actual results may differ materially from management expectations as projected in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons including, but not limited to, market and general economic conditions, interest rates, regulatory and statutory developments, the effects of competition in the geographic and business areas in which the Fund may invest in, and the risks detailed from time to time in the Fund's Simplified Prospectus. We caution that the foregoing list of factors is not exhaustive, and that when relying on forward-looking statements to make decisions with respect to investing in the Fund, investors and others should carefully consider these factors, as well as other uncertainties and potential events, and the inherent uncertainty of forward-looking statements. Due to the potential impact of these factors, the family of Chou Funds does not undertake, and specifically disclaims, any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless required by applicable law.

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund's objective is to provide long-term growth of capital by investing primarily in equity securities of US and foreign businesses considered by the Manager to be undervalued. Investments may include common and preferred shares, convertible debentures, government and corporate bonds and short-term indebtedness.

The investment strategy follows a strong discipline with regard to price paid to acquire portfolio investments. The level of investments in a company's securities is generally commensurate with the current price of the company's securities in relation to its intrinsic value as determined by various factors. That approach is designed to provide an extra margin of safety, which in turn serves to reduce overall portfolio risk.

Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund are disclosed in the Prospectus. The principal risks associated with the Fund are liquidity risk, derivative risk, and repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions and securities lending risk.

In addition, the Fund faces the following risks. The foreign invested assets may decline in value if there are declines in the foreign markets in which they are invested. Because the Manager will follow a disciplined value investing style, the performance of the Fund may be less than the performance of the various global exchanges during periods of high market valuations. Conversely, the Fund may outperform these exchanges during periods of prolonged market weakness.

The use of covered call options has the risk that trading in the options may be interrupted if trading in the related security is halted. If this happens, the Fund would not be able to close out its options and would not be able to sell the related security until the term of the options expired. In this case the Fund would not be able to realize its profits or limit its losses.

As at December 31, 2007, Fairfax Financial Holdings holds 15.9% of the Series A Units of the Fund. If Fairfax redeems its securities, a significant portion of the Fund's investments will have to be liquidated in order to redeem these securities. The timing of such liquidation may not be appropriate and all investors may suffer a proportionate loss as a result of such liquidation.

Results of Operations

For the year ended December 31, 2007, Chou Associates Fund (the "Fund") was down 10.2% for Series A units and 9.7% for Series F units while the S&P 500 Total Return Index was down 10.3% in Canadian dollars. In $US, the Fund returned 5.8% for Series A units and 6.4% for Series F units while the S&P 500 Total Return Index returned 5.5%.

CHOU ASSOCIATES FUND

The strength of the Canadian dollar against the US dollar, the pound sterling, and the Euro had the biggest negative impact on the results of the Fund. The dramatic difference in performance results between the net asset value per unit (NAVPU) priced in Canadian dollars, versus US dollars, is attributable to the fact that on December 31, 2006, one US dollar was worth approximately $1.17 Canadian, whereas one year later, on December 31, 2007, one US dollar was worth approximately $0.99 Cdn. Even if the price of an American security remained the same in 2007, it would have nonetheless shown a depreciation of roughly 15.1% at year end when priced in Canadian dollars. Similarly, a security denominated in the pound sterling and the Euro would have depreciated by roughly 13.5% and 6.1% respectively.

For the year 2007, the average monthly assets held by the Fund in non-Canadian securities was 86.6%. As such, the strength of the Canadian dollar had a significant impact on the Fund's results.

Major contributors to the Fund's performance were Royal Boskalis Westminster nv, Berkshire Hathaway Inc. and Flagstone Reinsurance Holdings Ltd. We suffered declines in Sears Holdings Corporation, King Pharmaceuticals Inc., Biovail Corporation and XO Holdings Inc.

Our average month-end cash position of 40.9% of net assets has had a restraining effect on returns.

This instrument further mandates that the IRC be composed of at least three independent members and requires that they report, at least annually, to the Manager and shareholders in respect of the IRC's duties.

⁽³⁾ The numbers for 2005 are for the period from September 30 to December 31.

⁽⁴⁾ The relief granted to investment funds by Canadian securities regulatory authorities from complying on an interim basis with Section 3855 results in a difference between the Transactional NAV and the GAAP NAV due to the differences in valuation techniques of certain investments. For investments that are traded in an active market where quoted prices are readily and regularly available, Section 3855 requires bid prices (for investments held) or ask prices (for investments sold short) to be used in the fair valuation of investments, rather than the use of closing sale prices currently used for the purpose of determining Transactional NAV. For investments that are not traded in an active market, Section 3855 requires the use of specific valuation techniques, rather than the use of valuation techniques by virtue of general practice in the investment funds industry. The provisions of Section 3855 have been applied retroactively without restatement of prior periods. Accordingly, the net asset value at the beginning of the current period has been adjusted.

⁽⁶⁾ Management expense ratio is based on total expenses for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of weekly average net assets during the period. The 2005 management expense ratio for Series F is for the period from September 30 to December 31.

The Manager is entitled to an investment management fee calculated as a percentage of the market value of the net assets equal to 0.125% per month for Series A units and 0.083% per month for Series F units.
