WHO IS THIS FUND FOR?

Investor who: is seeking capital gains over the long term. The fund is not appropriate for an investor with a short-term investment horizon. The fund is best suited to diversifying asset classes within a larger portfolio rather than as a core holding.

! Don't buy this fund if you need a steady source of income from your investment.

Before you invest in any fund, you should consider how it would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

A WORD ABOUT TAX

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on the fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether or not you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold this fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the fund. The fund has other series of securities. The fees and expenses are different for each series. Ask about other series that may be suitable for you.

1. Sales charges

You have to choose a sales charge option when buy the fund. Ask about the pros and cons of each option.

Sales charge option	What to pay	in dollars ($)	How it works
Initial sales charge	The range for sales commissions is generally from 0% to 2% of the purchase order.	$0 to $100 on every $5,000 you purchase.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If you purchase units through your broker or dealer, you can negotiate the sales commission you pay them. Your broker or dealer will generally deduct the sales commission and forward the net amount of the order to be invested in the fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the fund's returns .
